

Shipments to headquarters are there opened, inspected and repacked, the shipments from Connellsville have been made in such cases as could be procured from the merchants here and used without any attempt to adapt them to a standard size.

The work turned out by the local chapter has been classed by headquarters of exceptional excellence and neatness. All that is lacking to place the chapter on the honor roll is the use of the regulation containers in making shipments of the finished umbrellas.

MILL TOWN WOMEN ANXIOUS TO ENROLL FOR NEEDS OF WAR

Much Enthusiasm is Reported as the Date for Registration Approaches.

SERVICE IS PURELY VOLUNTARY

The Time is April 5 and 6; the Place, the School Houses; Registration Also to Take Place in the Adjacent Rural Communities; Other News.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, March 8.—Much enthusiasm is being shown concerning the registration for women in Scottdale since the women are learning that they are not compelled to register; that is just a patriotic duty and is the opportunity for letting the enemy understand that the women of this country are as patriotic as the men. They realize that signing up does not bind them for work, that to register is to offer to their country such service as they are best fitted to render.

The objects of registration are to interpret to the government the possibilities of the woman power of this country, to furnish accurate information to the government of the capacities in which women are now serving whether in their own home or in paid pursuits, trades or professions, to have in every community lists of women carefully classified who are willing to be called upon for trained or untrained service to the state or the nation, to list the women who wish to take training in order to give more efficient service, to be able to furnish women for salaried positions whether in government service or not, to be able to place women who can volunteer their services in positions of usefulness in many fields and to have a registry of the capacities and training of the women of the country as the basis of the work of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

The dates for registration of women in Scottdale and East Huntingdon township are April 5th and 6th. Mrs. A. C. Overholt, of Scottdale, is general chairman and is appointing committees to have charge. The places where they will register, are the school houses in Scottdale, and at Moorewood, Independent, Acme, Iron Bridge, Alverton, Brownstown Cross Roads, Chapel, Felgar, Hawker, Mt. Nebo, North Scottdale, Bethany, Parsonstown, Rankin, Ruttsdale, Storm, Tarr, White, Willow Row and West Overton. All persons over 16 years may register. They do not need to state exact age. They may say under forty or over thirty.

Comfort Kits Completed.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. yesterday completed comfort kits for the boys whose mothers are members of the W. C. T. U. and who are members of any branch of the service. This includes the last draftees who left a short time ago.

Duckpin Tournament.

A closed tournament for single duckpin championship for members of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the "Y" beginning on March 15th.

The Noble Chapter of the W. W. Guild met last evening at the home of Mrs. Hazel Bath. The program was carried out and initiation were held. This being the annual election, officers as follows were named: President, Lydia Titterton; vice president, Lucy Clarkson; secretary, Miss Etta King; assistant secretary, Hannah May Woble; treasurer, Hazel Bath; pianist, Elsie Hawthorne; assistant pianist, Elsie Frentho; counselors, Mrs. Titterton and Mrs. Allen.

Pechin.

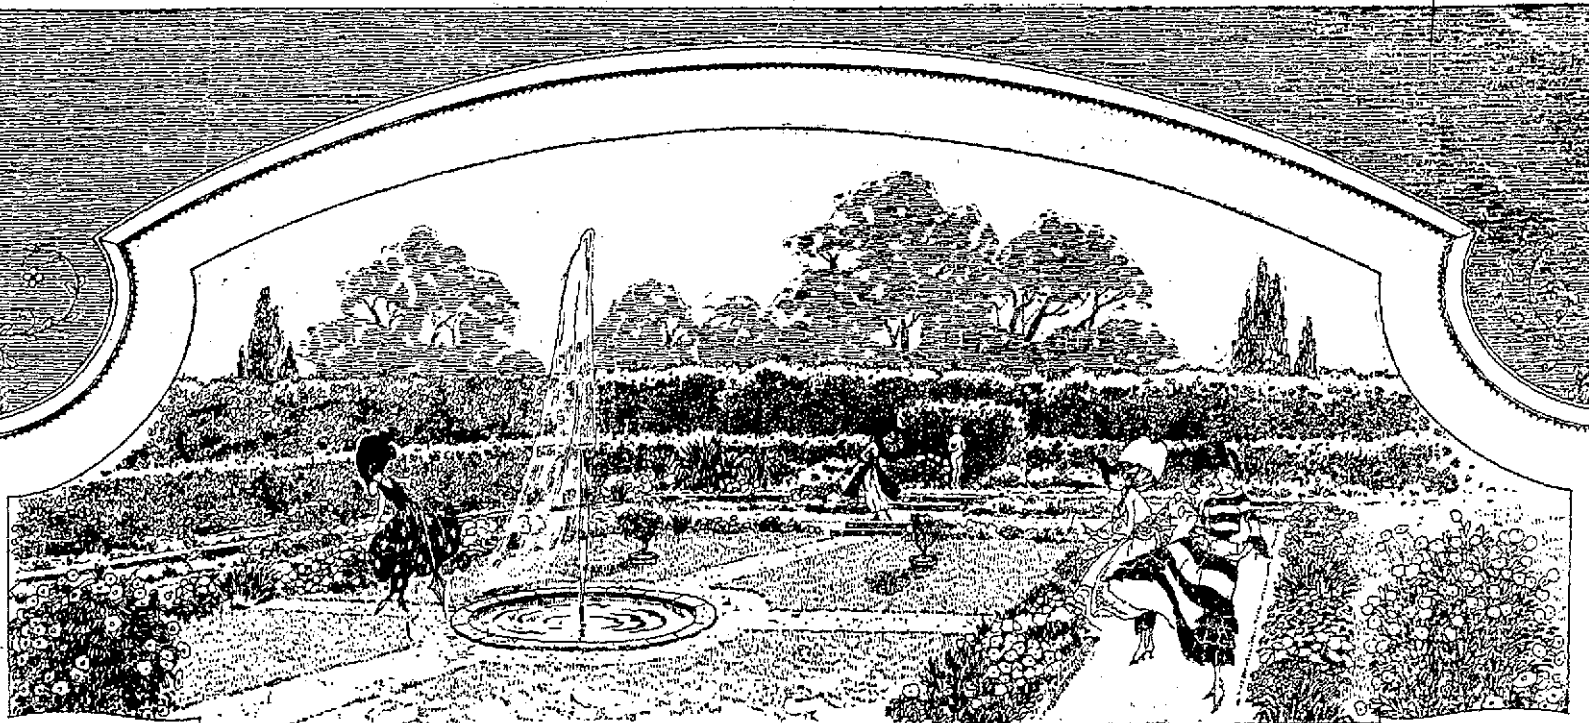

PECHIN, March 8.—James Gillespie, of Pechin, who some months ago purchased the Conneltsville, near West Penn, building room above, because of ill health and disposal of the same, has moved here being the purchaser. She has moved her business into the store-room and will build additional rooms for a dwelling on the same lot. Mr. Gillespie will rest until his health has improved sufficiently to allow him again entering business.

The Dunbar Electric company is putting up poles along the Ferguson road in order to furnish the residents along the same the convenience of electric lights. Among those who will use electricity are J. W. McClain, Isaac Miner, J. B. Senor and probably G. W. Smiley, Thomas Jeffries, Sr., Herbert Baker, E. G. Lehman, E. E. Miller and George Franks.

James Jeffries of Kellers station, who has been suffering from tonsillitis for the past week, is able for duty again.

Mr. and Mrs. Job Bryner of Ferguson road have moved to Tucker Run on account of Mrs. Bryner's poor health.

The GARDEN of SPRING STYLES

Here we present a beautiful picture of a beautiful garden—an authentic picture of one of the entrancing sunken gardens of Hampton Court, famous through English history and scene of a thousand gatherings of fashionables.

As this garden depicted here is most beautiful in Spring, so is it most typical of the introduction of Spring's beautiful fashions.

The style sections of the store are veritable gardens of Spring styles—gardens crowded with the buds and blossoms of the Easter modes.

The Occasion Is Introductory

It is not merely a beautiful spectacle, but it is an educational style event, where one who is observant may learn not only fundamentals of the new styles, but a great many of its clever ideas introduced into the incidentals or accessories of the fashions.

$5,257 OF WAR STAMPS

Are Subscribed By the Miners and Coke Workers at Mammoth.

Joseph Malin, superintendent of the Mammoth plant of the H. C. Frick Coke company, almost took a local banker's breath for a moment, says the Latrobe Bulletin, when he announced that he wanted to buy 1,273 War Savings Stamps, $5,257.49 worth.

The order for 1,273 stamps represented the first fruits of a drive in behalf of the War Savings Stamps, among the employees at the Mammoth plant.

Four or five of the employees subscribed for $500 worth, each, while a large number bought entire cards.

Allied up.
Still others ordered from two to 10 stamps, and the grand total ran to 1,273 stamps, making the larger order yet placed at one time, in Latrobe. The men paid for the stamps from their surplus cash. Many of them intend adding a stamp or two to their collection every pay day.

"DRAFT 258"—A mammoth production, in which Mabel Taliaferro, the celebrated screen favorite, supported by a cast of unusual excellence, is being presented today. The performance yesterday was witnessed by record breaking crowds and all who saw it the picture was pronounced as one of the most stupendous film productions ever shown in this city. "Draft 258" a successor to "The Blacker" was directed by William Christy Cabanne and many who have seen it insist on seeing it again. Every cameraman in Metro's was utilized in doing the actual work of photographing. The great structure erected by workmen for the production was put up at an expenditure of more than $10,000 and was immediately torn down after having been in actual use less than a day. "Draft 258" is one of the most meritorious photodramas ever offered the public. A comedy is included. Monday Edith Storey will make her initial appearance on the Metro program in "Eyes of Mystery," a melodramatic offering in five reels. Wednesday "Hansel and Gretel," a Bluebird feature starring Monroe Salisbury and Edith Clifford, will be shown, while on Thursday June Elvidge and Montague Love will be featured in "Broken Ties," a five part World production.

SOISSON THEATRE.

JACK BALL STOCK COMPANY—What can be termed the dramatic event of the season, is the opening of the Jack Ball Stock company at the Soisson theatre for three weeks' run. It is not a frequent occurrence to have as high class stock organization as the one above mentioned visit cities of this size.

With a cast of 12 people, including many of the best stock artists available in New York, Mr. Ball has a company he can be proud of. Miss Virginia Powell, a great favorite in the East, will no doubt win many admirers and friends. She has a charming personality and is an actress of exceptional ability. Mr. Earl C. Maye in the male leading roles is certain to captivate the audience from the opening night. As a comedian Percy Kilbride ranks among the foremost stock artists in the country. His middle name is "laugh" and he will become a big favorite with patrons on his first appearance. Hal Mordant, who has for several years been associated with Cohan and Harris attractions has a reputation as one of the most efficient directors in New York. His name connected with any production means the best. Miss Eva Sargent, Guy Astor, Jessie Glide, Clara Belle Frae, Norbert E. Dorente, are artists with national reputations and the scenic productions are in the capable hands of Irving Young. Mr. Jack Ball, the congenial owner and manager of the company, has left an unequalled reputation of producing only the best plays, in every city he has visited and Connelville people are certain to enjoy three weeks of high class entertainment with this notable company at their service. Some of the attractions to be seen soon are "The Natural at Law," by Charles S. Hayes, "The Return of Eve," "The Girl of His Dreams," "The Pretty Miss Nobody," "Mammette." A matinee will be given daily and play changed every Monday and Thursday.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"A MODERN MUSKETEER"—In "A Modern Musketeer," Douglas Fairbanks' latest photoplay for the Art-craft, a unique use of an automobile is shown. As the modern D'Artagnan, Fairbanks comes to the rescue of a girl whose travels have been held up by a washout, and he removes the tires from his blower and rides the rails, hauling a handcar behind with her trunk. Monday—married to the wrong man who refuses to expire at the appointed time, all the while loving big Irish Barney—such is the fate of Vivian Martin in her newest Paramount picture, "Molly Entangled." It sounds a bit gruesome. In reality it isn't, however, only appealingly funny and quaint and lovable as only Vivian Martin could have made a situation of that sort.

THE ARCADE.

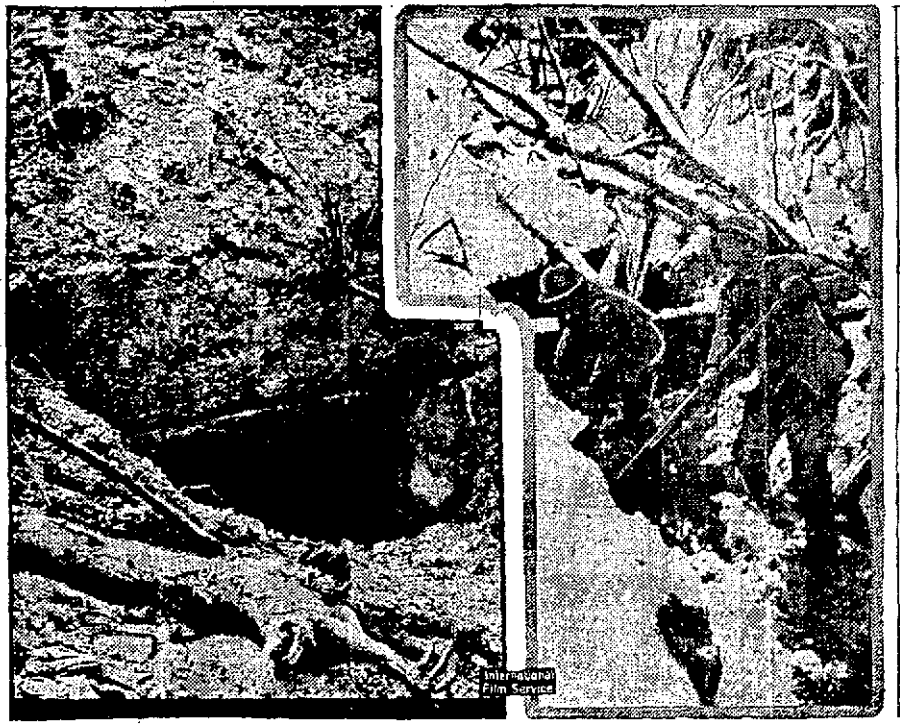

"A NIGHT AT SHERRY'S"—Departing from the usual custom and presenting their best show last the Johnny Jones Musical Comedy company yesterday at the Arcade sprung a big surprise when they offered "A Night at Sherry's." The show was full of novelties and beautiful scenic effects. Paramount was a Southern moonlight scene called "Moonlight on the Mississippi," showing a cottage on the river bank and a steam-

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin then begins to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a dark brown face, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week, see how much better you feel and look, 50c and 25c per box. All druggists.

OLD DUNBAR'S TRADITIONS WILL BE UPHELD IN BATTLE
LIEUTENANT SMITHLEY WRITES

The traditions of Dunbar will be upheld on the western front in France, says Lieutenant James O. Smithley of Battery K, Eighth Regiment, C. A. Brigade, of General Pershing's forces, writing to his friend, John L. Keffer of Keffer's station, near Dunbar. His letter, descriptive in the beginning, reads: "Somewhere on the French Front: 'Faint streaks of light across the eastern horizon betokened the approach of dawn. The rising sun dispels the mist and shines forth in splendor upon the earth and lo! the day is here. The southern winds, faintly touched with the glorious warmth of the Mediterranean coast, drift across France's battlefields and bring memories that are always prone to forget—our old home town and friends across the sea. So, I am thus taking advantage of my pen and sending a line or so to my friends in the old home town of Dunbar, and may I say that during this struggle of right against might that democracy may live that Dunbar will uphold her traditions and give her quota of men in the cause of justice and freedom. 'I enjoyed spending a vacation, a part of my three months leave of absence, in Dunbar just a little over a year ago, and I always considered it one of my pleasures to have one of your local papers come each week to my residence at Old Point, Va. Now I should like to assume a 'beggar's liberty' and request that if it were possible that you have The Courier sent each month to this quiet little part of the world. I would appreciate your kindness very much. 'Extend my compliments to all my friends in and around Dunbar and tell them Dunbar is represented by one boy on the French front, so far.' Lieutenant Smithley is the son of a Veteran and Mrs. L. L. Smithley of Irishborn mountain in Dunbar township, and was reared there. He is the young man L. L. Smithley was talking to The Courier about some months ago when he stated that though he was past 70 he would like to enlist and go to France to see his son. The young man is well known here and visited in Dunbar for a month last summer having with him his bride, a Virginia girl, whom while he was stationed at Old Point Comfort before he was sent over.

WE WANT A LIVE TOWN;
LET'S ALL GET TOGETHER TO HELP MAKE IT ONE

Let's all get together and help to make our community a live one. We all realize the consequences of poor business, stagnation in commercial affairs, depreciation of real estate values, low wages, etc. What we want is plenty of business, money in circulation, a live interest in the building of houses, the sale of lots and acre property and a genuine, healthy condition of business in our community.

How shall we accomplish it? The easiest thing in the world. Just keep our money in circulation, right here among ourselves, and we will create our own prosperous conditions.

In other words, let's patronize our own business men, instead of sending our dollars to the mail order houses. Let's be loyal to our own best interests instead of helping to bolster up the big monopolistic establishments that are draining our resources of all the ready money in sight.

It is the aim of the big city mail order houses to drive the small town merchants out of business, so that we will all be compelled to send to the cities for our merchandise. The big mail order houses are spending thousands of dollars every month to accomplish this object.

They will do it, too, unless we are sensible enough to stop it. It is up to us to prevent the big mail order houses from driving our storekeepers out of business, for several reasons, the greater of which are that our community will be robbed off the map if we have no business concerns and that our ownership of property here will not amount to anything in this event. The local stores, to a very large extent, make this town. The taxes paid by our business men are the principal support of our schools and churches. It is the taxes paid by our storekeepers that pay for the local improvements, for the street lighting, for fire protection and for all other community privileges and protection.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

MOTOR CARS this year will be—and should be—bought carefully, intelligently—as a well considered investment. Never have motor cars been more widely and genuinely needed. And never have they been selected with such discrimination and understanding of their real worth and character.

Every man must "wake up and speed up," if the war is to be won. This is the economic hour of the motor car. It must serve as a utility. Therefore it will be bought as a utility—selected for its sound mechanical excellence, its reputation for good service and economical maintenance and for the name of the Company that builds and sells it.

It is in that spirit, to serve that end that the Paige Essex "Six 55" is being bought, not merely by patriotic Americans, but by the efficient and discriminating Americans who recognize in this car the best value, the best service and the best ally of their own efficiency.

Essex Six-55 7-passenger $1775 Coupe. Six-55 4-passenger $2850 Town Car. Six-55 7-passenger $3230 Limousine. Six-55 7-passenger $3230 Sedan. Six-55 7-passenger $2850 Lurchmont. DON'T BREAK FROM YOUR PASTURE FOR UNTRIED FIELDS

Every community affords a commercial picture in which can be found something to fill every want. But despite this there are those who seek to break down the barrier enclosing this avenue to prosperity and to wander into fields of deception. When the barrier is broken down into these deceiving fields the dollars that justifiably belong within the pasture, that should be kept there to make it a more productive field of business are permitted to escape forever. Once sent without that help they are never given opportunity to re-enter and are gone forever thus depriving the community of a part of its earnings.

The home merchant is the picture from which every citizen should fill his wants, those who choose to break through the barrier into the field of catalogue deception are the losers first and the community next.

"Well, Then We Had the Ritual, and—Why, the Teeny Little Paddlin' He Got Wouldn't Hurt a Flea!"

"That's well," said Mr. Williams, settling into a chair with his paper. "I was a little apprehensive, but I suppose I was mistaken. I walked home, and just now, as I passed Mrs. Bassett's I saw Doctor Verman's car in front, and that barber from the corner shop on Second street was going in the door. I couldn't think what a widow would need a barber and a doctor for—especially at the same time. I couldn't think what George's need such a combination for, either, and then I got afraid that maybe—"

Mrs. Williams laughed. "Oh, no; it hasn't anything to do with his having been over there. I'm sure they were very nice to him."

"Well, I'm glad of that," Mrs. Williams began, when Penny appeared, summoning her to the telephone.

It is patently true that Mrs. Williams went to the telephone humming a little song. She was detained at the instrument not more than five minutes; then she made a plunging return into the library, a blushed and stricken woman. She made strange, sinister gestures at her husband.

He sprang up, miserably prophetic. "Mrs. Bassett?"

"Go to the telephone," Mrs. Williams said hoarsely. "She wants to talk to you, too. She can't talk much—she's hysterical. She says they lured George into the cellar and had him beaten by negroes! That's not all—"

Mr. Williams was already on his way. "You find Sam?" he commanded, over his shoulder.

Mrs. Williams stepped into the front hall. "Sam!" she called, addressing the upper reaches of the stairway. "Sam!"

"Not even echo answered."

A faint clearing of somebody's throat was heard behind her, a sound so modest and unobtrusive it was no more than just audible, and, turning, the mother beheld her son sitting upon the floor in the shadow of the stairs and gazing meditatively at the hat-track. His manner indicated that he wished to produce the impression that he had been sitting there in this somewhat unusual place and occupation, for a considerable time, but without overhearing anything that went on in the library, so close by.

"Sam," she cried, "what have you done?"

"Well—I guess my legs are all right," he said, gently. "I got the articles on, so probably they won't hurt any more."

"Stand up!" she said. "March into the library!"

Sam marched—slowly. In fact, no funeral march has been composed in a time so slow as to suit this march of Sam's. One might have suspected that he was in a state of apprehension.

At this, Sam was able to hold up his head a little and to summon a rather feeble indignation. "It ain't so," he declared. "We didn't any such thing lower him into the cellar. We weren't goin' near the cellar with him. We never thought of goin' down cellar. He went down there himself, first."

"So! I suppose he was running away from you, poor thing! Trying to escape from you, wasn't he?"

"He wasn't," said Sam doggedly. "We weren't chasing him—or anything at all."

"Then why did he go in the cellar?"

"Well, he didn't exactly go in the cellar," said Sam reluctantly. "Well, how did he get in the cellar, then?"

"He—he fell in," said Sam. "How did he fall in?"

"Well, the door was open, and—well, he kept walkin' round there, and he hollered at him to keep away, but just then he kind of—well, the first I noticed was I couldn't see him, and so we went and looked down the steps, and he was sitting down there on the bottom step and kind of shouting, and—"

"See here!" Mr. Williams interrupted. "You're going to make a clean breast of this whole affair and take the consequences. You're going to tell it and tell it all. Do you understand that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then tell me how George Bassett fell down the cellar steps—and tell me quick!"

"He—he was blindfolded."

"Ah! Now we're getting at it. You begin at the beginning and tell me just what you did to him from the time he got here. Understand?"

"Yes, sir."

"Sir?"

"I want to know what else you did to him? What was the initiation?"

"It's—it's secret," Sam murmured piteously.

"Not any longer, I assure you! The society is a thing of the past, and you'll find your friend Penrod's parents agree with me in that. Mrs. Bassett had already telephoned them when she called us up. You go on with your story!"

Sam sighed deeply, and yet it may have been a consolation to know that his present misery was not altogether without its counterpart. Through the falling dusk his spirit may have crossed the intervening distance to catch a glimpse of his friend suffering simultaneously and standing within the same peril. And if Sam's spirit did thus behold Penrod in jeopardy, it was a true vision.

"Go on!" said Mr. Williams. "Well, there wasn't any fire in the furnace because it's too warm yet, and we weren't goin' to do anything'd hurt him, so we put him in there—"

"In the furnace?"

"It was cold," protested Sam. "There hadn't been any fire there since last spring. Course we told him there was fire in it. We had to do that," he continued earnestly, "because that was part of the initiation. We only kept him in it a little while, and kind of hammered on the outside a little, and then we took him out and got him to lay down on his stummock, because he was all muddled anyway, where he fell down the cellar; and how could it matter to anybody that had any sense at all? Well, then we had the ritual, and—why, the teeny little paddlin' he got wouldn't hurt a flea! It was that little colored boy lives in the alley did it—he isn't any ways near half George's size—but George got mad and said he didn't want any ole nigger to paddle him. That's what he said, and it was his own foolishness, because Verman won't let anybody call him 'nigger,' and if George was goin' to call him that, he ought to have sense enough not to do it when he was layin' down that way and Verman all ready to be the paddler. And he wouldn't be so mad at the rest of us, either, because it took us about twenty minutes to get the paddle away from Verman after that, and we had to lock Verman up in the laundry room and not let him out till it was all over. Well, then things were kind of spoiled anyway; so we didn't do but just a little more—and that's all."

"Go on! What was the 'Just a Little More'?"

"Well—we got him to swallow a little teeny bit of assadity that Penrod bit to have to wear in a bag around his neck. It wasn't enough to even make a person sneeze—it wasn't much more'n a half a spoonful—it wasn't hardly a quarter of a spoonful."

"Huh!" said Mr. Williams. "That accounts for the doctor. What else?"

"Well—we had some pain left over from our flag, and we put a little teeny bit of it on his hair and—"

"Huh!" said Mr. Williams. "That accounts for the barber. What else?"

"That's all," said Sam, swallowing. "Then he got mad and went home. Mr. Williams walked to the door, and sternly motioned to the culprit to precede him through it. But just before the pair passed from her sight, Mrs. Williams gave way to an uncontrollable impulse."

"Sam," she asked, "what does 'In-or-In' stand for?"

The unfortunate boy had begun to smile. "It—it means—Inapparent Order of Infidelity," he moaned—and plodded onward to his doom.

Not his doom at that very moment Master Roderick Magworth Bitts, Jr., was suffering also, consequent upon telephoning on the part of Mrs. Bassett, though Roderick's punishment was administered less on the ground of George's troubles and more on that of Roderick's having affiliated with an order consisting so largely of Herman and Verman. As for Maurice Levy, he was no whit less unhappy. He faced as ill.

Simultaneously, two ex-members of the In-or-Ins were fading their lot for fortune. Something had prompted them to linger in the alley in the vicinity of the shack, and was to this fatal end the Mr. Williams, with demonic justice, brought Sam for the deed he had in mind.

Herman and Verman listened, awestricken to what went on within the shack. Then, before it was over, they crept away and down the alley toward their own home. This was directly across the alley from the Schofield's stable, and they were horrified at the sounds which issued from the interior of the stable stables. It was the St. Bartholomew's Eve of that neighborhood.

"Man, man!" said Herman, shaking his head. "Glad I ain't no white boy!" Verman seemed gloomily to assent.

A hindrance.

An army officer who served in the Spanish war tells of a New York regiment, many of whose members were recruited on the East side. They were spotted for a fight, and it became necessary to post guards to preserve order.

A big husky Bowers recruit, of pugilistic proportions, was put on duty outside and given special orders to see that quiet reigned, and, above all things, if trouble came his way, not to lose possession of his rifle.

Soon a general row began, growing in proportions as the minutes passed. The soldier walked his post nervously, without interrupting, until the corporal of the guard appeared on the scene with re-enforcements.

MACCABEES LOSE TO BALTIMORE & OHIO TEAM, 32-24

First Half Ends in a Tie and Then Railroaders Hustle Things Along.

MAKES SECOND VICTORY

B. & O. Winning Now After Tightly Chasing the Jinx; Many Attempts For Goals Fail, But Game Is Won By a Good Majority; Passing Is Good.

The Baltimore & Ohio team took another step forward in the city league last night when it defeated the Maccabees 32-24. The Maccabees did not have the full strength and had to fill a forward position with I. Goodman, the B. & O. man. The railroad team did not maintain a permanent lead until the second half.

The first period ended with the score tied at 12-12. At the beginning of the second period the railroad five dropped enough to get a lead on the lodge quarter and held it. At that time the B. & O. five missed an extremely large number of goals, the ball rolling around the basket, but persisting in falling off instead of through.

Hannigan was off form in his foul shooting last night, making only two out of eight in the first half. In the second period he made four out of seven. Goodman shot 10 out of 17 attempts.

The lineup: Baltimore & Ohio—32 Maccabees—24. Prancels forward, I. Goodman Miller forward, Cochran Bloom center, Shollar Hannigan guard, Rist Driscoll guard, Feler Field goals—Cochran 5, Francis 4; Hannigan 4; Goodman 2, Miller 2; Bloom, Driscoll, DeBolt.

Foul goals—Hannigan 6 out of 15; Goodman 10 out of 17. Substitution—DeBolt for Driscoll. Referee—Wall.

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San-Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitebock, of Centreville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Laughrey Drug Co., Connelldale, to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheumatism, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is over a demand. 30 cents, 60 cents and $1.20 a jar at Laughrey Drug Co., Connelldale; Broadway Drug Co., Scottdale.

BEST SKIN SOAP.

Is San-Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Laughrey Drug Co., Connelldale; Broadway Drug Co., Scottdale.

If your druggist does not have it send to Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa.—adv.

An Instance.

"Poor Elander is always getting up against it."

"What's he been doing now?"

"He went the other night to see his best girl, and the front door had just been painted. He got up against that, too."

Perfectly Correct.

"It is a shame the way that beauty doctor is selling those pretty girls gold bricks."

STUDENTS OF MT. PLEASANT SCHOOLS DEDICATE BANNER

Fifty-six Students and Former Students Now in the Service Are Represented Thereon.

MT. PLEASANT, March 9.—The students of the Mt. Pleasant high school unfurled a service flag with 56 stars at a very impressive service held at the high school building. Civic Club Election.

The Civic Club will meet Monday afternoon in the Municipal building when the election of officers will be held.

Farewell Reception.

Mrs. Fred Beffel entertained a number of her friends at her Main street home last evening. Mrs. Beffel gave this as a farewell, as she is moving to Johnstown.

Personal.

Mrs. A. L. Levison and son Saul of Uniontown were guests of Mrs. Levison on Thursday.

Causes of Winds.

Winds are produced by a disturbance of the equilibrium in some part of the atmosphere; a disturbance always resulting from a difference in temperature between adjacent sections. Thus, if the temperature of a certain extent of ground becomes higher, the air in contact with it becomes heated, it expands and goes towards the colder or higher regions of the atmosphere; whence it flows, producing winds which blow from hot to cold countries. But at the same time the equilibrium is destroyed at the surface of the earth, for the pressure on the colder adjacent parts is greater than on that which has been heated, and hence a current will be produced with a velocity dependent on the difference between these pressures; thus two distinct winds will be produced—an upper one setting outwards from the heated region, and a lower one setting inwards towards it.

One Thing at a Time.

Perhaps because you have so many goals you wish to reach you are far away from any of them, observes an efficiency expert.

You are dividing your forces. You must have one real, objective point if you would win success—the success which is worth winning.

It is quite impossible to have one major subject which you study and aim to excel in, and then fritter away part of your time on others.

Certain arts and studies are allied, then select one and study it thoroughly and well.

Concentrated thought, study and action in one direction will accomplish great things.

But a scattering of all and finish of nothing is time wasted.

Choose wisely; then go to it, one thing at a time.

Mutual Understanding.

"How are you getting on with your French lessons?"

"First rate. I'm getting so I know what I'm talking about almost as well as the teacher."

GETTING OUT OF GEORGIA HAS THRILLS

and every negro is called after some one in the outfit.

"At the rate we're going now the war will be over before we get out of Georgia. I don't know whether the engineer gets dizzy whenever he goes up above 15 miles an hour and has to stop until he recovers his equilibrium. The engineer and fireman are now standing alongside the tracks warning themselves at a wood fire. The place they chose to stop at looks very much like Nowhere.

"Pennsylvania and Western Maryland cars passing on a southbound train give a homelike aspect to the otherwise strange scenery.

"Getting ready to move, especially when everything indicates that you are going somewhere near a port of embarkation for 'Over There,' covers a period, 'poignant with unsurpassed excitement,' as I remember a Uniontown reporter described an election day some years ago. First, there is a week or more in which vague rumors that we're going to leave float around. When you've been packed up ready to go once, and then told you're not to leave, you don't put much faith in idle rumors but they cause a lot of talk nevertheless. But when officers begin to drop broad hints about 'getting out soon,' betting as to the probable date begins. All kinds of dope is peddled around. No matter what anybody hears, the whole detachment gets it eventually. Everything is finally settled by a definite announcement 24 hours before the time of embarkment. Then begins the actual preparation.

"Barracks bags, those commodious blue-drilling sacks that Army men get instead of trunks, have to be packed. Everything that is not needed for traveling goes in them and they actually serve a purpose other than of hiding places for dirty clothes on inspection days.

"Our train is stopped again, this time because a Ford touring car tried to stop the advance of our expeditionary force—with the same result, that the Germans will achieve what they try to impede the onrushing Americans. The machine was badly smashed but the driver was not hurt much. The incident, though trifling, will further delay us in getting out of Georgia.

"For those things that are necessary to comfortable existence while traveling, ration bags and blanket rolls are provided. The blanket rolls are made up of one or more blankets, towels and other toilet articles, extra underwear and whatever else can be gotten into them. The shelter-halves makes a waterproof covering for the blanket rolls. In the ration bags are packed mess kits and other miscellaneous articles most needed while traveling. The blanket rolls are strapped about the barracks bags and the whole package slung over the shoulders.

"The makeup of blanket roll and barracks bag is left pretty much to the individual soldier's taste, but there is a good deal of rivalry in making up neat packs. There is a delightful thrill to the whole business, packing up to go somewhere, the location of which is not divulged, is an experience that appeals to the imagination. But it's not all thrill for there's work and lots of it to be done; the barracks must be scrubbed, bedsacks emptied of straw, rubbish removed, the travel rations prepared and transported to the baggage car, shoes and scores of other things have to be done.

"But, at last the moment comes, the time of embarkment; rolls around, the company is lined up for the last time on that particular company street and after roll call the start is made while other companies rather enviously look on and wish the departing ones 'the best of luck.'

"As I said before, it's a wonderful experience and dignified officers enter into it with all the zest of younger and anything but dignified privates.

"People along railroad lines to eastern points, especially the direct routes, lay in wait for the troop trains which pass through at frequent intervals for they have learned that the soldier is a liberal spender and they prepare all sorts of things to eat as so much pork. On the train there isn't much to do but eat and sleep and as there's a lot of time for sleeping at night, it's only natural that waking hours should be devoted to overworking the stomach."

EVERY MEAL A POISONOUS INJECTION

Few folks suffering from kidney and bladder trouble ever think that the meals which they are taking are hastening their death. Every morsel of food taken gives up its quantity of uric acid. This poison is taken into the system through a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder. In the healthy man nature provides an outlet for this poison. Those in ill-health must take a medicinal help to drive this death-dealing poison from the system. For over 30 years GOLD MEDAL Cascara Quinine Capsules have been doing this work. They effect prompt relief in all disorders arising from kidney and bladder troubles. Don't put off this vital matter of attending to your health until it is time to make your funeral arrangements. Get a box of GOLD MEDAL Cascara Quinine Capsules today. Look for the genuine. Your druggist sells them. They are guaranteed or money refunded. Insist on GOLD MEDAL Brand—Adv.

COMING! "CAP" STUBBS AND HIS LIVE WIRE COMPANIONS

Beginning March 11, The Daily Courier will introduce to its readers one of the liveliest live boy comic strips in all the world. The pictures will be drawn by Edwina—the Phil May of American boydom. Edwina draws kids that are kids, the back-to-nature kids. Kids with fight in them. Kids with the love of adventure and thrills in them. Kids that liked to steal into the pantry and fish out the dark colored molasses cookies. Kids that were tempted and did play "hookey." Kids that loved. Kids that were just plain bad—without being wholly bad. Kids, kids, kids—in all their forms, shapes, manners, disappointments, happiness. The kind of kids that Edwina draws will greatly attract and interest, not only the present day little boys, but the present day big fellows who used to be the little fellows. Watch out for "Cap" Stubbs and his wonderful adventures!

The inevitable. "I lost my pocketbook yesterday." "Much money in it?" "Fifty cents and some car tickets." "I wouldn't worry about that if I were you." "I don't mind the loss at all, but when my husband finds it out he'll spend most of his time for years to come telling all our friends how careless I am with his money."—Detroit Free Press.

No Great Student. "I must have a part for Tottie Flub-dub. In the last revue she used to say 'Hurrah for the prince!' Couldn't you write that into this play?" "There is no prince in this play. We might have her say, 'Hurrah, boys; here comes the handsome captain!'" "I don't think she could learn that long a part."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
